- (b) Kyusa ekitundu kino okizze mu Luganda.

Way back in 1955, when i was working as a medical officer at Kyanyonjo in Mubende District, I came into contact with some Tanzanians who had decided to fight for democracy and basic rights in their country through a guerilla group called MAJI MAJI.

But little did I know at that time the determination and dedication of those people would make it possible for their country to get independence in the following years and that their country would become a strong secure nation and the home of refugees from Uganda. However, those people taught me a good lesson. They made me realise the need for myself, my country and Africa as a whole to be self-reliant.

Soon after i resigned from my medical Job in which i was earning shs.600 per month after 13 years of service and become self-employed. Furthermore, i decided to keep myself informed about the struggle for democracy and basic human in Africa. And in the last 30 years, I have heard and read about many younger and old Africans who have been struggling through political organisations to make a better Africa, a better place to live in.
